

SHERLOCK'S WINE MERCHANT

A Word from Sherlock's...

We have been very busy preparing our Wine Education Tours for this year and I am pleased to announce that we will be hosting two trips to France in 2012. Hosted by our Senior Wine Educator and Certified Specialist of Wine, Don Hackett, and French language and culture expert, Jennifer Pounds, these wine tours are designed for wine lovers of all levels of experience.

Our first trip will be from June 3rd to June 8th in the French region of Bordeaux. Our second trip will be from June 10th to June 15th in the French regions of Rhone and Provence. In addition to touring some of our favorite chateaux and producers in these regions, our Wine Education Tours also give you the opportunity to indulge in many of the culinary and cultural traditions of France.

We have been traveling to France to buy wine for over 20 years and have developed strong relationships with many of France's premier wine producers, who are eager to host our clients and share with them their expertise and dedication to producing hand crafted artisan wines. Several visits on these tours include meals with the owners and winemakers, which provide our guests with one-on-one opportunities to learn from some of the most respected wine producers in the world.

Please visit our website in the coming weeks as we announce the full itineraries for these trips. And stay tuned for additional Food & Wine Education Tours in the coming months.
